

Poultry Progress Day
Thursday, March 8, 2007

PennAg
Industries Association

Farm and Home Center Auditorium
1383 Arcadia Road
Lancaster, PA 17601

Speakers who are scheduled to appear:

Dr. Jim Dunn – Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, The Pennsylvania State University
The Impact of Grain Pricing on the Poultry Industry

Dr. Eric Gingerich – New Bolton Center, University of Pennsylvania
E. coli problems in Laying Hens – Causes and Controls Update

Michael McCaskey – Core Resources Group, LTD
Making the Most of Agricultural By-Products, New Energy Resources

Dr. Gregory Martin – Penn State Cooperative Extension, Capital Region
PA Chemsweep Program/Chemical Safety on the Farm & Manure Management and Fly Controls Prior to Spreading

Dr. Mike Hulet – Department of Poultry Science, The Pennsylvania State University
Vegetative Buffers for Odor Control and Air Emissions – Variety Trials Update

Dr. Nan Hanshaw-Roberts – Bureau of Animal Health and Diagnostic Services,
PA Dept. of Agriculture
NPIP AI Program Enrollment for Protection of PA Farms; Premise ID

Dr. Paul Knepley – State Veterinarian, PA Dept. of Agriculture
PA AI Response Plan Update and Equipment Deployment planning

Breakfast at 7:30 a.m. provided by the Penn State APG and
Lancaster County Chamber of Commerce Ag Committee

Exhibits open at 8:00 a.m.

Lunch tickets for Hess's BBQ Lunch available for $5 at the door

For further information or exhibitor packet, contact Gregory Martin,
Penn State Cooperative Extension, at 717 394-6851 or gpm10@psu.edu